Dear Ma'am,

The ever-increasing ocean trash - plastic waste, in particular - has produced nothing less than a global crisis for ocean waters, marine wildlife and habitat, human health and safety, wasted resources and lost revenues for many nations. Fortunately, this is one environmental issue that can be addressed by tackling trash at the source before it has a chance to reach the water and by changing the behaviors that allow trash into the water in the first place.

International Coastal Cleanup (ICC) provides the opportunity to make a difference in a global movement by getting rid of trash / debris from our shorelines, rivers, lakes and waterways; raising environmental awareness and providing information which will guide and influence governments, corporations and industries in developing smart solutions to the marine debris problem.

ICC is the largest volunteer-based initiative of the Ocean Conservancy, a non-government organization, based in Washington D.C., USA. Last year, 791,336 volunteers from 93 countries have participated in the cleanup, collecting more than 18,062,911 pounds or 8,193,200 kilograms in over 25,188.6 miles or 40,538.8 kilometers of beaches, shorelines and inland waterways.

On September 15, 2003, Presidential Proclamation No 470 was signed, declaring the third Saturday of each year as the International Coastal Cleanup Day in the Philippines coinciding with the global coastal cleanup celebrations.

In observance of the 33rd International Coastal Cleanup Day on September 15, 2018, Saturday, we would like to invite you and your constituents to join this very important environmental event. Volunteers are tasked to collect trash / debris and record the information of each trash collected on a standardized Volunteer Ocean Trash Data Form.

The following is the program of activities on cleanup day:
